

FLAGS FLUTTER . . .

Even if you are a minority of one, the truth is still the truth. — Mahatma Gandhi

Flags flutter on Main street

Still advertising bioweapons under the tired, treasonous lie of “safe and effective”.

Too many New Zealanders

continue to enter a designated Portal of Doom

for yet another dose,

in the mistaken belief

they are protecting themselves

or their baby.

Anyone can have it — from pregnant mothers to pensioners.

No one gave them the vital information so imperative to know:

That it could maim, harm or kill. That it is unsafe and ineffective.

No one that is, except brave medical staff and many individuals, who broke ranks and worked night and day to warn others.

Despite the gaslighting, the jeers, and the taunts.

And in the case of health professionals,

the court cases

and being struck off from their professions.

Still the brave worked

to inform as many as they could.

It is they who were,

and still are,

on the Battlefield of Life

trying to shield others from harm

and death.

The experimental gene-tech injection takes less than 30 seconds to administer.

The patients are unable to give fully informed consent because, quite probably, all they have been told is that it is “Just a little prick”.

They leave with a payload onboard

that now courses through their body.

The pharmacy charts the jab.

Each one paid for and sanctioned by government decree,

regardless of which Party is in power

For they are homogenised and controlled

by global despots
without souls.

The pharmacists collect their money — dreaming of early retirement perhaps . . .

For a licence to potentially injure— or kill.
What will it take for them to lift their blinders
And connect the dots?

Emergency Response vehicles race past, sirens wailing.

Now a familiar refrain — heard many times each day.

Another medical event.
Another day. Another dollar.

Gaily painted defibrillators hang on buildings, at the ready

For another damaged heart

Another injured person.

All in the name of 'help' —

when in reality

it is the greatest betrayal

of all time

on a people

who trusted their government

To tell the truth.

And trusted their doctors and pharmacists

to Do No Harm.

And to ensure they were given truthful information

that would enable them to give a fully informed consent.

Yet, the tide is turning
More people know
And the truth is spreading
as if by wildfire.

Those guilty of this maiming and murdering
will be called to account.

Not out of vengeance,
but through a desire for genuine justice —
to the living, the injured, the bereaved,
and the dead.

And for all who stood up
and spoke out
Regardless of enormous cost to themselves.

Regardless of ridicule and taunts

Regardless of Inquisitions:

Those souls shine light on a dark world

And still do

catching those who fall.

They are the modern day heroes of our time.

And while these days may seem at their darkest

The sun will shine again

When we realise

that all of the so-called 'laws' being made to imprison us all

are worthless

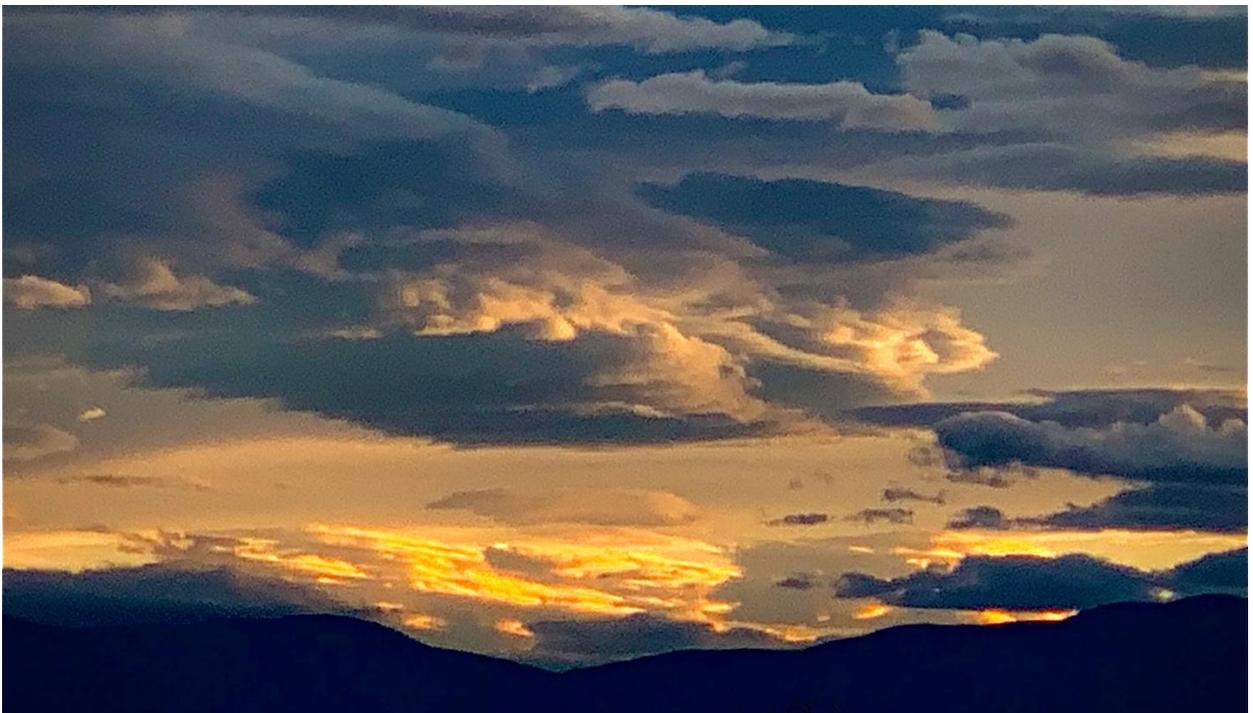

when we simply, and peacefully,

Do Not Comply.

Through peaceful non-compliance
and through understanding, true justice,
and real health solutions that cure
we can rebuild our well-being,
and our countries.

Standing together,
Shining our light on the world,
we can regain our freedom, our kindness,
our unity and compassion.

Ultimately, we can,
through Love.

When I despair, I remember that all through history the way of truth and love has always won. — Mahatma Gandhi.
